

ESoCE-NET- European Society of Concurrent Enterprising Network

The European Society of Concurrent Enterprising Network (ESoCE-NET) is a non-profit Association bringing together academics, researchers and industry practitioners to stimulate the exchange of ideas, views, practices and latest research and developments in the field of Concurrent Enterprising (CE). ESoCE-NET offers its Members the full potential of a Knowledge Community, to provide members with the most useful support in their way to competitiveness through the (CE) paradigm, and with professional opportunities to exploit their expertise. The role of ESoCE-NET is to be the precursor of a Virtual Community of methodology creators. As a Community, ESoCE-NET's mission is: "to promote, share and exchange the latest developments in CE, as well as to act as a catalyst for adopting CE approaches in Industry. It also aims to develop and promote focused initiatives for the provision and dissemination of knowledge on CE and to support the deployment of CE concepts and methodologies in industry". With this mission, ESoCE-NET is adopting a strategy that is based on the involvement of Industry and Research entities, on the promotion of CE, on research and development activities on selected areas, on the establishment of relations with outstanding RTD projects, and on the distillation and dissemination of ongoing RTD results and bridging to the rest of Industry.
